

BUSTER, NIGHT OFF, SEES BROADWAY, AND THE DE'IL POPS

Two Arrests and a Near-Night
Follow the Escapade of the Dog.

That white streak along our Broadway Forty-second Street at Broadway was at midnight last night was "Buster."

You may not be acquainted with "Buster," but the police of five precincts, the employees of two railroad terminals and one hotel, and diverse other individuals constitute a tactical driver with an amazed but music for acquaintances and none of them are happy. Today "Buster" is safely locked in a room at the Hotel Belmont in the care of his owner, J. C. Fowler of Glen Falls.

Buster is a white bulldog with the most protruding underjaw of any bulldog that ever made a night on Broadway. He was ambling along last night near the Belmont in the care of a porter when a black cat came into his range of vision. Buster jumped so hard he broke the collar about his neck and was off after the cat. Into the Grand Central terminal he ran, and scores went screaming about the place as he chased the cat. Buster escaped on an outgoing express.

Seeking new fields to conquer, master, followed by a crowd, ran out to Forty-second Street and headed west. In the meantime the police had been notified and a general alarm had been sent out for him. The policemen of the five precincts in the centre of the city all saw him at one time or another, but he was never stopped.

He evidently liked railroad stations, for he suddenly dashed into the Pennsylvania station. Again the chase started. Several policemen were in the crowd that went after the dog as he darted out of the terminal. At Ninth Avenue and Thirty-third Street Frank Smith of No. 632 Third Avenue fell on him. Smith hauled a taxicab and hurried to the Belmont with Buster.

He left the dog in the taxi and went into the hotel to demand a reward. When he was refused he declined to tell where he left the dog and a policeman was called and he was arrested on a charge of grand larceny. A few minutes later Harry Owens of No. 303 Washington Street came in to know why Smith did not get the reward. Owens likewise declined to give up the secret of the dog's whereabouts and he was locked up.

At 4 o'clock this morning an angry taxi chauffeur entered the hotel and demanded to know who was going to pay him for his four-hour wait-and-sleeping quartet for the dog which completely consumed. A post card will bring it. Legend of forever will add to the legend the remarkable benefit in being freed from the habit of smoking. It is a well-known fact that smokers improve their health now, but it is still a mystery.

Tobacco!

Efficiency, Advancement, Success

Demand that a man keep
Close Watch Upon himself

A habitual烟 is a drawback. One of the greatest joys in life is that which comes from the use of tobacco, seemingly innocuous to some and seriously injurious to others, especially when used to excess. For the man who knows that his nerves, heart, eyes, stomach, lungs, etc., are failing, the addition to tobacco, pipe, cigarette, chewing snuff, cigar, I have often found helpful, not to send grunts and groans.

Are You Enslaved?

It is a well-known fact that smokers improve their health now, but it is still a mystery.

American Sculptor Sure the French

Will Win War.

The French liner Rochambeau reached port-to-day from Bordeaux with 293 cabin passengers, all eager for news of the French offensive movement against the Germans. Among those who were pleased to hear that the attacks continue with a degree of success was Frederic MacMonnies, the sculptor, who has been in France for seven years.

The spirit of the French people and the French Army is wonderful," said Mr. MacMonnies. "They are going to
